Things To Consider When Chartering A Motorcoach

Does the company provide...

- On-time service?
- Knowledgeable and courteous drivers?
- Clean, modern coaches?
- Computerized reservations and billing?
- An aggressive maintenance program?
- Are they fully insured, and authorized by the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)?
- Do they employ responsive customer service professionals?
- Do they provide rapid custom trip quotes and pricing?
- Are they known for having the highest level of customer service and training in the industry?

They Should!

You should also consider the road-worthiness of the bus, the competence of the person behind the wheel, and the way a carrier conducts their business. Consider the company's administrative systems - are they computerized so charters are not misdated, and pickup times are not misunderstood?
